

$5,500 for Black Dog Institute - No bull!

27 August, 2012

A Black Dog stud bull was auctioned over the weekend with proceeds going to the Black Dog Institute. The bull was generously donated by Keith and Maureen Kerridge, owners of an angus cattle stud in Taralga. They chose to support the Institute after their good friends lost their son after a battle with depression. Black Dog Institute Creative Director, Matthew Johnstone was there to motivate the crowd in the minutes leading up the auction. The sale result was an impressive $5,500 which will go towards helping find better treatments for depression and bipolar disorder.

Do you have an unusual idea for a fundraiser? Go here to find out how you can support Black Dog Institute.

